A BAD BLUNDER.

The St Louis Officials, the adams Express People and All Concerned Discover That They Have No Jurisdiction to Try Messenger Fotheringham for Complicity in the Great Express Robbery. Sr. Louis, May 4.-When the Fotheringham case was resumed in the Criminal Court this morning. H. C. Springle, conductor of the robbed train, was called. He testified last evening that he heard no outery from Fotheringham until St. Clair was reached; that on entering the car he found him firmly bound, but saw no gag.

Fotheringham was cool and composed;

at first the messenger refused to say how much was stolen; but afterward said it was about $50,000 in bills. Fotheringnam was reluctant to report the matter to the company, the conductor said. The story of the robbery told by him to the conductor, was repeated by Fotheringham at the Southern two weeks later, without any variation. Cross-examined this morning, Mr. Springle said he knocked at the door of the express car at Mencke, but received no answer, and that afterward Fotheringham told him that he heard the knock, but was afraid to answer, as Jim Cummings was holding a pistol to his head. Fotheringham, he said, was "tied to stay," his hands fastened first with a handkerchief, and then securely bound with stout cords. On top of the safe to which he was bound, a casting, weighing about thirtyfive pounds, was found, so fastened that if Fotheringham moved it would fall and crush him.

The state objected and the court ruled it After James Barrett, route agent of the express company, had given his testimony. Circuit Attorney Clover fannounced that the State would stand on the count of the indictment charging him with taking the money, but not with receiving the stolen Judge Normile ordered the Sheriff to remove the jury, and after they retired he asked Circuit Attorney Clover if the State had any other evidence except that the alleged offense was committed at Oak Ridge, in St. Louis county. Mr. Clover said he had not, and claimed jurisdiction simply from section 1696. .

Judge Normille said: "The view the court takes of that statute is not a doubtful one. I regret that this case has gone so far. "It is an old principle of common law that offenses must be tried in the vicinage where they were committed, and the earliest juries were confined to eye wit-"The in lictment in this case is evidently founded on the supposed validity of section 1696, which authorizes a prosecution in any county through which the car may run. This particular section has never been passed upon, but section 1691 has been declared unconstitutional, and they are alike in principle, as each declares that offenses may be prosecuted in a different county from where the offense was committed.

"Since the money was not taken from the express car in the city of St. Louis nor any part of it brought into this city by the defeneant, this court has no jurisdic tion. The case must be dismissed here and transferred to St. Louis county." The jury was then called in and Judge Normile instructed them to acquit Fotheringham on the ground of want of juris-

Messrs. Harvey and Johnson objected and their exceptions were noted. The jury retired and returned with the verdict as directed by the court. Circuit Attorney Clover said there was a second indictment against the defendant covering the same ground, and he would nolle pros. it. Mr. Clover then asked the court to hold Fotheringham under bond to answer any indictment that might be brought in St. Louis County. Judge Normile said he had no authority to take such action, and the defendant was discharged, Circuit Attorney Clover stating that he would call the attention of Prosecutor Warfield, of St. Louis County, to the matter.

whom to censure put back the church in America half a century. He told the Pope that nothing could blight the future of the church in this country more than any act of ecclesiastical authority that might raise the question of the rights of the citizens. Such action would bring about a state of public sentiment antagonistic to the best interests of the church. He stated that the charges against Dr. McGlynn raised this question of right of the citizen. American Catholics would believe that civil liberty was trodden down in the person of Dr. McGlynn, should Rome sanction his removal from St. Stephen's. His case, Father Malone added, ought to be considered apart from the part he took in the George movement, unless the church condemned the principle upon which that movement was based and taught, which it has not. The letter concluded with an eloquent appeal to his Holiness to continue Dr. McGlynn in the pastorate of St. Stephen's, and the expression of the belief that the judgment of the Pontiff would prevent a great scandal in the city of New York.

Senator Sherman's Narrow Escape NEW YORK, May 4.- A World dispatch from Key West, F.a., says that the rumors to the effect that Senator Sherman and his party narrowly escaped being kidnaped by outlaws in Cuba seem to have some foundation. The Key West Equator says it has private advice from Havana indicating that the plot was well laid and failed of execution by the Senator's party eaving a certain plantation five minutes before the banditti made their appearance. Although the Senator had with him a body of the civil guards, the robbers were in sufficient force to overpower them and bear the entire party prisoners to the mountains, where they would held for ransom.

Suit for Big Money. BUFFALO, N. Y., May 5 .- Summons and complaint were filed yesterday morning in the suit of Henry B. Homins against W. R. Vanderbilt, Alva E. Vanderbilt, his wife, and others. The plaintiff complains that on or about March 24, 1885, the defendant, the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railway, delivered to the plaintiff a note, whereby it promised to pay on his order or demand the sum of $250,000 and interest. The Vanderbilts and Franklin D. Locke, trustees to secure the payment of the note, delivered a mortgage on

THE LATEST MINE HORROR.

The Terrible Calamity in the Victoria Coal Company's Mine at Nanaime, B. C.—But Little Hope of Rescue for the Imprisoned Miners—List of the Dead, Injured and

Those Still Entomb NANAIMO, B. C., May 5 .- It was believed late last night that the fire in the air shaft of shaft No. 1, of the Victoria Coal Company's mine, had been extinguished, and that only a small body of flame existed between the air and main shafts, which can be conquered to-day. An attempt will then be made to bring air in, and the work of rescue will begin. By to-night, it is hoped, the men will be reached. A shift that came up late in the night reported hearing evidence of a pick striking the opposite side of the wall. There is a faint hope of reaching the imprisoned

The danger of the gas being driven into the fire and a second explosion is not past, and fears are entertained that the whole place may be blown up. Old miners say such a result is possible. If it should occur the catastrophe would be the greatest recorded in the history of coal mining. The mines extend out from the shaft more than a mile beneath the waters of the har-

The cause of the explosion is unknown, but it is generally supposed to have been an explosion of coal dust. The tale may never be told.

The British Province of New Brunswick Suffering From Overflow of the St John River-A Large Amount of Property Destroyed. ST. JOHN, N. B., May 6.—The flood in the St. John river continues to sweep on with resistless force. At St. John the water rose nine inches last night and it is now on a level with the floors of a number of buildings. As there is every indication that the flood will increase for several days yet, occupants of stores and dwellings in the endangered districts are moving their goods to places of safety. Ten or more large sawmills employing several hundred men have been invaded by the turbulent waters, and have been obliged to suspend. A great deal of cut lumber is being washed off the wharves at the mills, and millions of logs have been swept out to sea. The lime kilns in the neighborhood

St. John have been obliged to suspend operations, the water having forced its way into the kilns. Owners are now endeavoring to remove the manufactured lime to places of safety. Much of it will be lost. Several mills through the upper part of the province and in Maine have been destroyed. The railroad tracks are overflowed. The Virginia Debt Conference. RICHMOND, Va., May 5.-The committee on the debt presented to the General Assembly to-day a preliminary report. It stated that so far no agreement had been reached with the had representatives of the bondholders, because the demands of the latter were too exorbitant and required more money than the State could possibly afford. It had been agreed, however, that the conferences be suspended until Saturday to give the representatives of the bondholders an opportunity to hear from the council of foreign bondholders. The legislative committee hope to be able to make a final report soon after the expected message received.

A Chance for American Faterprise WASHINGTON, May 6.-Through recent dispatches received at the Department of State from the United States legation at Teheran, it is learned that the Shah continues to manifest much interest in the relation between the United States and Persia, and expresses the desire and hope not finding fault with the superlative that the resources of that king-dom should be developed by the aid of capital furnished by the citizens of a neutral, friendly country, such as the criticisms of other Southern leaders un-United States. OUR ROYAL VISITOR.

Queen Kapiolani at the Tomb of Washington—"Extremely Simple but Fitting" The Royal Party and Invited Guests E

tertained at Dinner by the President. WASHINGTON, May 7.—Queen Kapiolani, he Hawaiian Princess, and the other members of the royal party, visited the omb of Washington yesterday. About half-past ten o'clock the royal party arrived at the navy yard, and immediately boarded the United States steamer Dispatch. The commandant and officers of the navy yard received the visitors, and Captain Cowles of the Dispatch and his aids escorted the party on board. As the Dispatch steamed slowly by the navy yard quays the yards of the United tates sloop of war Galena were manned from lower to royal yards, and the royal silent salute was given. Crowds of children on the adjoining wharves cheered and beckoned, and the Queen acknowledged each salatation by waving her

Mount Vernon was reached at noon. A number of steam launches were in waiting to convey the guests and visitors to the Mount. Arriving at the grounds of the tomb and mansion, a critical survey was made by the Queen and Princess, under the escort f Senators Sherman and Evarts. At two o'clock, as the homeward journey was begun, an elaborate luncheon was served on board the Disputch, and at four o'clock the distinguished party was safely disembarked. As they did so, the royal salute of twenty-one guns was fired from the navy yard. To a representative of the United Press, Queen Kapiolani said through the gracious interpretation of the Princess, that the journey to the tomb of the founder of the American Nation had been one of intense interest. "I was amazed at the extreme simplicity of the mausoleum and Washington's former home," she said, "but it is all fitting-so great and simple a man is well remembered by simple posthumous surroundings." Among the hundred leading people invited to accompany the royal guests were Senators Sherman and Evarts, Representatives Crain and Ketcham, the Japanese Minister and wife and representatives of the diplomatic bodies. The weather was cloudy, but the sun shone warm'y throughout the stay at Washington's home, living and dead. The dinner at the President's Mansion last night, given in honor of Queen Kapiolani, was a brilliant affair. Thirty-four covers were laid. The party included, as seated at the table: The President and Queen Kapiolani; Chief-Justice Waite and the Princess Lilinokalani; Mr. Carter, the Hawaiian Minister, and Mrs. Cleveland; Secretary of State Fairchild and Mrs. Carter; Lieutenant-General Dominis and Mrs. Waite; Mr. Preston, the Haytian Minister, and Mrs. Vilas; Postmaster-General Vilas and Mrs. Sherman; Senator Sherman and Mrs. Sheridan; General Sheridan and Miss Porter; Admiral Por ter and Mrs. Lincklaen; Mr. Iaukea and Miss Carter; Colonel Boyd and Miss Bancroft; Mr. Winthrop and Mrs. Laughton; Mr. Bancroft and Mrs. Winthrop.

IMPORTANT SERVICE.

Weekly Special Weather Bulletins to be Issued by the Signal Service for the Benefit of the Farmers. WASHINGTON, May 7 .- Chief Signal Offier Greely, being convinced that the data collected in his office may be greatly utilized by farmers, has decided to issue a weekly special bulletin containing reliable information relative to the climatic conditions which have existed the previous week in the agricultural districts of the country. Beginning to-day, the reports which are collected daily by telegraph, will be charted and summarized at the close of each day, and the results given to the press associations as items of news in time for publication in the Monday morning papers. These bulletins will desig nate the agricultural regions over which the meteorological conditions are favorable to the crop productions; will point out regions where the conditions observed during the current week have alleviated spells of drought and excessive heat, or ameliorated conditions of excessive moisture or prolonged cold, and the limits of late or damaging frosts. The modifying effects of such meteorological predictions upon the season can be reasonably conjectured by parties interested, especially as the bulletin will state whether the season is tending to increase or decrease the excesses or deficiencies of temperature and rainfall. General Greely will be pleased to receive suggestions, from those in-terested in the bulletins, with a view to improve the same, either as to the character of the information furnished, or as to the form in which the reports are presented.

SIMPLY TERRIBLE.

City Shrouded in Mourning-The Terrible Mining Calamity at Nananimo, B. C,, Resulting in the Loss of One Hundred and Seventy Men.

NANANIMO, B. C., May 7.—The greatest grief prevails throughout this city. About one hundred and seventy men were killed in the recent mine disaster. Of these, 105 are white and the rest Chinese. Thirtyfive bodies were recovered yesterday. All of them had been killed by the fatal firedamp. They had made desperate efforts to escape on their faces, with coats thrown over their heads to keep off the flames. Many of them were a long way from their stations. Any hope that was held out for the balance of the men has vanished. They will probably be burned beyond recognition, and will only be known by the places they are found in. The fire is almost under control now, and if all goes well, will soon be extinguished. Forty seven widows are left, and a large number of children are fatherit is hoped that those more happily sit ated will give of their abundance to the poor suffering and bereaved people who are left destitute in this city. Relief parties are being organized and contributions are coming in. Death of John W. Hardwell. BRISTOL, R. I., May 6 .- John H. Wardwell, who came into prominence in the lit-igation over the Miser Paines' property in New York, died here to-day. His final illness was of a mental nature, bordering on insanity. A Dose of Whitewash.

Boston, May 7 .- The Senate committee on the Beverly bribery matter submitted majority and minority reports yesterday. The majority find that there was no bribery, but that reprehensible methods were employed in promoting the Beverly bill. The minority agree with the above, except that they also find that Senator Slattery was offered a bribe.

The House committee on the same sub ject reported no bribery, but severely censure the manner in which money was used indirectly to prejudice members in favor of the Beverly scheme. The reports do not give entire satisfaction, and the term "whitewash" is generally applied to them. Davis on Wolseley.

NEW ORLEANS, May 7 .- Jefferson Davis has written a review of General Wolseley's "Life of General Lee," which ir printed in this morning's papers. Mr. Davis takes exception to many of the English General's statements, and while just and unwarrantable. The review is
